

Announcing a Public Lecture on Globalization, Development, and (In)Equality:
Ten years after the crash: where are we, where are we going?

Dr. Herman Mark Schwartz

Professor, Department of Politics, University of Virginia

When: 5pm on Tuesday, October 23rd, 2018

Where: Trinkle 204

Dr. Herman Mark Schwartz is a geographically oriented economic historian who finds it congenial to work in a politics department because he studies the constitution of and interaction of state and market power. He has worked on foreign debt financed, agricultural export led economic development in the 19th century; the development of the global economy since 1500; marketization of the welfare state in the 1980s and 1990s; and the global causes and consequences of the American housing bubble. He is author of Subprime Nation: American Power, Global Finance, and the Housing Bubble and States vs. Markets: The Emergence of a Global Economy. He received his Ph.D. from Cornell University. He is currently working on the political economy of the knowledge economy.

Questions? Contact Dr. Surupa Gupta (sgupta@umw.edu) or Dr. Amrita Dhar (adhar@umw.edu)

Sponsored by the CAS Dean's office, Department of Political Science and International Affairs, and Department of Economics.